At the Great Pyramid (Pyramid of Khufu) - Giza Plateau - Cairo

HELLO and WELCOME

RELY ON AN EXPERT

When you turn over a complex and stressful task that has the potential to become very costly and also has the potential to go terribly wrong, you feel relief and have a weight lifted from your shoulders.

That's the result of relying on an expert.

Once you have engaged my service, you won't book another journey on your own again.

BENEFITS OF TURNING OVER THE PLANNING

- No more overwhelm with the search process.*
- No more having your search devolve into something completely unrelated to travel.*
- No longer beginning your journey after months of stressful planning, hoping that things are right and that nothing was forgotten.*
- No wondering about what experiences or opportunities you may have missed.*
- No wasted travel spend.*
- Your entire travel experience will be professionally planned and documented.*

No More DIY Travel Planning

When you DIY anything in life, you take on risk. At times, it's a calculated risk because the consequences, if anything should go wrong, are minimal. At other times, the risk is too high - medical procedures; home renovations; education; even cutting your own hair.

Planning travel, especially internationally, is something that is best left to qualified and professional experts.

Consider some of the most frequent issues that DIY travel planners have:

- Missed flights
- Unsatisfactory hotel rooms that are nothing like the images you saw
- Travel insurance that doesn't actually work when you need it
- Waiting an indeterminate time on hold at airlines, cruise lines, hotels, and tour companies when you have a question or need assistance
- Tired and frustrated travel companions
- Wasted time attempting to get from one destination to another
- Under-planning
- Over-planning
- Poor document preparation or no documentation at all
- Denied entry and/or re-entry
- Discovering your scheduled activities and sites are closed or limited when you arrive
- Struggling to find dining options in limited capacity or busy travel seasons

YOUR INVESTMENT

Please note that I only book 4- and 5-star accommodation to ensure a quality stay and experience for my clients. In addition, I require a minimum travel spend for itineraries based on the level of services that are right for you.

For fully custom itineraries, I require a minimum working travel spend of $15,000. For simpler getaways (such as all-inclusive Caribbean/Mexico stays), I require a minimum travel spend of $8,000. Your travel spend may need to be adjusted depending on your specific needs and wants. This travel spend does not take into account incidental spending in destination or additional fees incurred while traveling.

In order to allow me to properly service each client's booking, I do not book economy airfare. I do offer booking of business class, first class and private aviation charters. I am happy to recommend routes and dates based off your inquiry. I recommend all clients review airfare pricing prior to solidifying your itinerary dates.

This minimum travel spend is in place to maintain the high quality my clients expect, and falls in line with the current average trip cost for the destinations I plan for most often. This also allows me to work with fewer clients to ensure I can give as much attention to each client as they deserve.

All inquiries, regardless of travel spend, are vetted to ensure a good fit, and clients with less than the minimum travel spend are taken on a case-by-case basis. Travel spend is discussed during your intake call to assure your needs and wants align with the amount you wish to spend. I'm happy to suggest alternatives in the event that I don't feel confident I can deliver an itinerary within your set travel spend.

HOW IT WORKS

If we're a good fit for one another, you'll sign your booking contract, complete your onboarding forms, and pay the Consultant Retainer.

PLANNING MEETING

In this 60-90 minute virtual meeting, I'll begin the planning process. I will ask you a number of questions aimed at getting to know your travel preferences, travel style, and bringing your journey into focus.

04

RESEARCH, PRESENTATION & ADJUSTMENTS

I will present you with a full itinerary containing options for travel, activities, and accommodation. Request any small changes before we commit to your final itinerary.

05

WHILE YOU ARE TRAVELING

I am an email or message away if you need me. In the event you need to activate your Emergency Support Plan (via WhatsApp), I will be on standby ready to assist (taking time zone differences into account).

FAQs

Q1. Why do you charge a fee?

As we move into a new way of traveling, you may have noticed that everything has become more complex and stressful. These are likely some of the reasons that you reached out to me. My services have also become more complex: navigating an entirely new landscape that involves heavier and more meticulous details and managing a myriad of disruptions.

My fee provides you my TIME and ACCESS - from the beginning of your journey until you return home, I make certain everything goes as smoothly as possible - from choosing the right departure to any protocols - helping you manage visa requirements - matching you with the right travel insurance policies, and much more.

Q2. Do you get better rates than if I booked myself?

My goal is to ensure that you have the best experience possible that is perfectly matched to your vision and interests. There are many times that I do have access to negotiated rates, but the real value is in how I can save you time, stress and frustration, either prior to traveling or while actually in the destination. If you are looking for a custom-made, seamless planning and travel experience, I'd love a chance to show you the difference of working with a travel advisor makes!

Q3. Don't you get paid a commission?

Yes, we as travel advisors do get small commissions for our bookings. If I did not receive any commissions, my fees would be considerably higher or I would have to take on more clients - then I would not be able to provide the kind of care and service to my clients that they and I prefer. My fees ensure that you receive the service you deserve and the options that are most valuable to YOU.

FAQs

Q4. Does each person in the group pay the group fee?

No. Normally, one household/person is designated a group leader / liaison. That group leader / liaison is responsible for paying the fee on behalf of the entire group. After the group itinerary is established, each household in the group will then be charged the Consultant Retainer.

Q5. I've seen some advisors not charge a fee.

Every travel advisor has their own business model.

While everyone's experience in working with a travel advisor is different, what I CAN tell you is what it is like to work with a travel professional like me here at Where2Next? Travel, LLC. For me, travel is what I do every day, all day - it's my passion and my profession. I continue to remain educated on keeping current in the travel industry, and I have been sought out by and quoted in numerous industry periodicals, websites, and interviews for my advice, guidance, and insight. I design custom travel experiences for my clients - so each itinerary is unique to you.

My fee structure gives my clients the confidence that I have THEIR best interest at heart, as I am not driven by the need to upsell.

Q6. I love planning! Can we still work together?

A lot of the fun is researching and creating anticipation for the destination before traveling. As a travel advisor, my goal is to enhance your travel experience and provide you with expert advice, personalized recommendations, and insider knowledge that you simply will not find on your own. I consider this a collaborative experience. I do, however, offer travel consulting for the self-planner calls at a rate of $150/hour to tap into my expertise.

FAQs

Q7. Can you book hotels with my loyalty points?

Yes, I can! That would entail, however, providing me access to your loyalty account to make and manage the booking(s). Many of my clients are very comfortable with me having that level of access. If you are not comfortable with me having that level of access, you may certainly book the accommodation(s) with your loyalty points, then kindly provide me with your confirmation number(s) for reference and the ability to add the accommodation to your itinerary.

Q8. Do you work with VRBO and/or AIRBnB?

I do not work with properties that are individually managed, as I am unable to stand behind the legality, quality and safety of individually owned properties. If you are looking for options with shared space (living room, dining room, kitchen, etc.), I will work with my trusted partners to find vetted villas, apartments, hotels and resorts that meet your needs.

Q9. Why do you provide bundled package rates?

As a travel advisor, my focus is on curating comprehensive travel packages rather than just providing individual component prices. I take a holistic approach to journey planning, considering various factors such as accommodation, transportation, activities, and additional services to create a seamless itinerary tailored to your preferences. By bundling these components, I can leverage my industry relationships to secure the best overall value for your trip.
